Today [I am/we are] joining School-Home Support's #SchoolAttendanceGapDay campaign to raise awareness of the learning that is lost as a result of absence.

4th February 2025 is the halfway point in the school year - it signals the final school day for 'severely absent' children who are missing at least 50% of their education.

Far too many children are missing out on their education, and everything that school can offer. It's time to close the school attendance gap.
